TO THE CITIZENS OF SALISBURY :

The annual report of the Board of Education is respectfully submitted to you, and we would ask for it a careful inspection. Every effort has been made to secure faithful, competent and conscientious teachers, and we trust it shall be the verdict of the people (especially the parents) that good results have followed, and the scholars have received much practical knowledge by being brought in contact with teachers who have their best interests at heart.

It has been our duty, during the past year, to look especially after the welfare of the pupils by visiting the schools and becoming personally acquainted with them, by conferring with the teachers, listening to their suggestions as to the best mode of conducting the studies, and showing to both teacher and scholar that the people, through their agents, are interested in the success of the schools.

We cannot refrain from urging upon parents the great necessity of supplementing the efforts of the Board and its staff of teachers by interesting themselves in the welfare of the schools. If the parent has no interest in the personal appearance or promptness of the child, it will very soon, (if not already) become careless and indifferent, and the best efforts of the teacher to mould character and promote the general welfare of the pupil will avail nothing. The parent should be willing to make a sacrifice in order that the scholar be punctual, as, when tardiness is the rule rather than the exception, a demoralized school will be the result. We cannot urge too strongly the importance of even a common school education, which, if taken advantage of, will fit any boy or girl for the ordinary occupations of mercantile or agricultural life, while the one who grows up in ignorance at this time will have only two excuses, namely, laziness on his own part and supreme indifference on the part of the parents as to his future. This is pre-eminently the young people's age and parents should see to it that they go forth mentally equipped for the battle of life. Our forefathers may have had some excuse for lack of learning. The child of this generation has not even the semblance of an excuse.

In some districts it is the habit of some of the older scholars to absent themselves from school on examination day. This is a serious reflection on the authority of the parent or guardian, and also prevents the examining board from ascertaining how much real progress has been made during the term. It should be an imperative duty on the part of parents to see that their children who have attended during the term should be present on examination day.

During the past year, the school board has completed the schoolhouse on Raccoon Hill and effected minor repairs upon others. In general our schoolhouses are in good repair and will compare favorably with those of any rural town of similar means. Still, continuous repairs are emphatically needed, particularly on some of the woodsheds, which are in a dilapidated condition.

You will notice that the school on Raccoon Hill has had more weeks of schooling than our other schools, which is accounted for by the loss of their house by fire the previous year, and the funds remained in the treasury and expended this year, and now have had their full amount.

In conclusion, we would say that in our opinion our schools have been as a whole an unusual success, while none have failed and some have reached a high standpoint. With this present prosperous condition, we think our schools bid fair to reach a high standard rank in education.

The details of receipts and expenditures of the school district will be found in the treasurer's financial statement following.
